DEPARTMENT OF MARATHI

ACADEMIC YEAR: 2024-25

EDUCATIONAL VISIT

REPORT

- Date: 22nd March 2025
- Coordinators: Prof. Dr. V. B. Rathod (Head, Department of Marathi), Mr. Yogesh Ugale, Miss Hemalata Chaudhari
- Destination: Nashik
- Purpose: To explore cultural, historical, and educational sites significant to Marathi literature, history, and local heritage.

On 22nd March 2025, the Department of Marathi at our college organized a one-day educational field visit to Nashik for a group of students and faculty members. The purpose of this field visit was to provide students with a deeper understanding of Maharashtra's rich cultural, historical, and literary heritage. The visit covered various sites, each of which holds significant value in the study of Marathi literature, history, and culture. The sites visited included the Pandav Leni Caves, Buddha Vihar & Phalke Smarak, Radio Vishwas Community Radio Station, Udaji Maratha Shaikshanik Varasa Sangrahalay, and Kusumagraj Smarak.

1) Pandav Leni Caves: A Glimpse into Ancient History

The day began with a visit to the Pandav Leni Caves, a significant archaeological site nestled in the Trimbak Hills, near Nashik. These ancient Buddhist rock-cut caves, which date back to the 3rd century BCE, are among the earliest traces of Buddhism in Maharashtra.

The caves are named after the Pandavas from the Mahabharata, although there is no historical evidence linking them to the epic. The caves are a testament to the advanced engineering and artistic skills of ancient Buddhist monks. The intricate carvings, statues, and inscriptions offer a fascinating glimpse into the religious and cultural life of the time.

The students were shown the main caves, which include Chaitya (prayer halls) and Viharas (monastic dwellings), with some particularly fine examples of rock-cut sculptures depicting the Buddha and various Bodhisattvas. The serene ambiance of the caves and the panoramic view of the surrounding hills left a deep impression on all attendees. The historical importance of the caves was highlighted, and students were encouraged to appreciate the architectural finesse and the spiritual significance of the site.

2) Buddha Vihar & Phalke Smarak: The Legacy of Dadasaheb Phalke

The next stop was the Buddha Vihar, located close to the famous Phalke Smarak. The Buddha Vihar is a peaceful and contemplative space that honors the teachings of Buddhism and the legacy of the Buddhist monks who lived in Nashik for centuries. The visit to the Buddha Vihar allowed students to explore Buddhist philosophy and its influence on Indian culture.

Adjacent to the Buddha Vihar is the Phalke Smarak, a memorial dedicated to Dadasaheb Phalke, the father of Indian cinema. Dadasaheb Phalke is known for directing and producing the first full-length feature film in India, Raja Harishchandra (1913). The smarak pays homage to his pioneering contributions to Indian cinema.

The visit offered students a chance to reflect on the connection between the arts and the revolutionary transformations in Indian society. Students learned about Phalke's vision and the significant role Nashik played in shaping his cinematic journey. The memorial has various statues and plaques commemorating Phalke's life and work in the realm of cinema.

3) Radio Vishwas Community Radio Station: A Unique Voice for the Community

The next stop on the field visit was the Radio Vishwas Community Radio Station. The station, known for its social activism and community-oriented programming, has been a beacon for local voices, especially in underrepresented areas.

Upon arrival, students were warmly greeted by Miss Ruchita Thakur, a senior staff member at Radio Vishwas, who provided an insightful and informative guide on the workings of a community radio station. She explained how Radio Vishwas serves as a platform for local residents, allowing them to share their stories, concerns, and experiences. The radio station's focus on empowerment through education, health, and cultural programming was discussed in detail.

Miss Thakur elaborated on the technical aspects of operating a community radio station, including content creation, broadcasting technology, and the importance of engaging the local population in meaningful discussions.

An exciting part of the visit was the live interview conducted by RJ Shraddha, who invited Manohar Maharaj Saykhede, a PG Marathi student, for a conversation. Manohar Maharaj, a well-known figure in the Varakari tradition, shared his experiences with Kirtan performances, which are deeply embedded in the religious and cultural fabric of Maharashtra. His insights into the spiritual significance of Kirtan, as well as his personal journey in the field, were inspiring for both the students and faculty present.

The session allowed students to gain a deeper understanding of how traditional art forms, like Kirtan, are integrated into modern media and continue to thrive in contemporary spaces.

4) Udaji Maratha Shaikshanik Varasa Sangrahalay: Preserving Maratha Heritage

The fourth stop was the Udaji Maratha Shaikshanik Varasa Sangrahalay (Udaji Maratha Educational and Cultural Heritage Museum). This museum is dedicated to preserving the history, culture, and heritage of the Maratha Vidya Prasarak Samaj Sanstha and its contributions to Nashik's social and educational development.

The museum housed an array of artifacts, including historical documents, books, paintings, and sculptures that portrayed the glory of the Karmaveers, especially focusing on the life and legacy of the Maratha Vidya Prasarak Samaj's Karmaveers. The collection also included records and items related to the role of education in the Maratha Vidya Prasarak Samaj.

The curator of the museum provided an enriching explanation of each exhibit, highlighting the role of the Maratha Vidya Prasarak Samaj in shaping the socio-political landscape of Nashik. Students were encouraged to reflect on how this rich history continues to influence Marathi culture and society today.

5) Kusumagraj Smarak: A Tribute to Maharashtra's Literary Icon

The final stop of the field visit was the Kusumagraj Smarak, a monument dedicated to Vishnu Vaman Shirwadkar, better known by his pen name Kusumagraj. Kusumagraj was a towering figure in Marathi literature, known for his profound poetry, plays, and essays that captured the essence of human emotions and social issues.

The visit to Kusumagraj Smarak was an emotional and educational journey. The memorial, set amidst lush greenery, offers a tranquil space for reflection. Students had the opportunity to see Kusumagraj's personal belongings, manuscripts, and various accolades he received throughout his life.

The guide provided students with a deep dive into Kusumagraj's works, including his famous plays and poetry, which have shaped modern Marathi literature. Kusumagraj's connection to the socio-political movements in Maharashtra was also discussed, making it clear how his works transcended personal and literary boundaries to engage with wider societal concerns.

The one-day field visit, organized by the Department of Marathi, was a truly enriching experience for all attendees. From the ancient rock-cut caves of Pandav Leni to the modern-day community radio station, each stop was a vivid tapestry of Maharashtra's rich cultural and intellectual history. The visit not only deepened the students' understanding of the historical and cultural heritage of the region but also provided them with practical insights into how tradition and modernity coexist in today's world.

The interaction with Miss Ruchita Thakur at Radio Vishwas and the interview with Manohar Maharaj Saykhede about his involvement in Varakari Kirtan were particularly impactful, providing students with a direct link between their studies and the cultural practices of Maharashtra. Similarly, the visit to the Udaji Maratha Shaikshanik Varasa Sangrahalay and Kusumagraj Smarak helped students connect with the region's historical legacies, which continue to inspire contemporary Marathi literature and culture.

This field visit would not have been possible without the meticulous planning and coordination of Prof. Dr. V. B. Rathod, Mr. Yogesh Ugale, and Miss Hemalata Chaudhari. Their dedication to providing students with meaningful educational experiences is truly commendable.

The department looks forward to organizing more such field visits to enhance the educational journey of the students, encouraging them to connect with the cultural and literary heritage that shapes their identity as individuals and as part of a larger cultural narrative.

Soil & Water Testing Report 2024-25

As a part of community services, the Department of Chemistry started "Soil and Water Testing" keeping the view of the farmers on problems regarding quality and productivity. The laboratory was set up in September 2018. The main crop in Igatpuri Tehsil is rice. So, it becomes prime importance to examine the quality of soil and water, which would help in increasing crop productivity and quality. The laboratory was set up on a vision "No Profit" basis. Therefore, the soil and water testing are done free of cost.

In this laboratory following parameters of soil and water were checked.

SN	Water Parameters Studied	Soil Parameters Studied
1	TDS	Bulk Density
2	pH	Specific Gravity
3	Electrical Conductivity	Acidity
4	Acidity	Alkalinity
5	Alkalinity	TDS (Total Dissolve Salt)
6	Oxidizable Substance	Total Soluble Salt %
7	Chloride	Electrical Conductivity
8	Sulphate	--
9	Calcium	--
10	Ammonium	--
11	Nitrate	--
12	Magnesium	--
13	Residue on evaporation	--

The parameters are checked by volumetric analysis and instruments such as the furnace, pH meter, Conductivity meter, Colorimeter, etc.

The department created awareness through local newspapers to submit samples of soil and water. A total of 15 samples of Water and 16 samples of Soil have been collected and analysed.

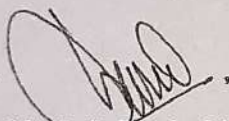

Mr. S. S. Pardeshi, Head Department of Chemistry, Dr. Dnyaneshwar Sanap, Coordinator, Mr. R. P. Bharsat, Expertise monitored and verified the testing report of soil and water analysis. The feedback and suggestions are also noted down by each beneficiary during the submission of the report.

Conclusion

In conclusion, learning how to use a fire extinguisher is an essential safety skill that every people should know. By following the simple PASS technique—Pull the pin, Aim at the base of the fire, Squeeze the handle, and Sweep side to side—you can take quick action to control a small fire before it spreads.

It's important to:

- Stay calm and act quickly when facing a fire, but always prioritize your safety.
- Know the different types of fire extinguishers and which one is right for different kinds of fires (like paper, liquids, or electrical).
- Ensure you have an escape plan and never hesitate to call for help if the fire is too large to control.

Remember, fire extinguishers are only effective for small, contained fires. If the fire is out of control, always evacuate immediately and call emergency services. Being prepared and knowing how to use a fire extinguisher could make a life-saving difference in an emergency. Stay safe and share this knowledge with others.

A report on :

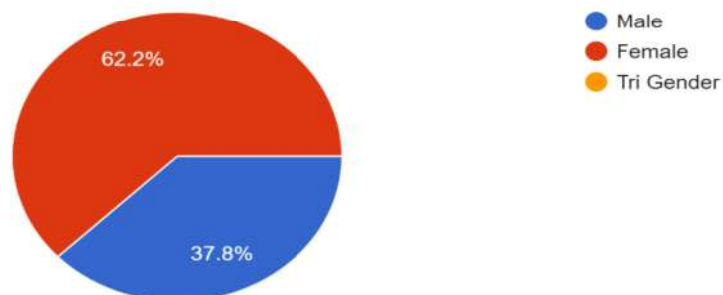

Online Transaction Scams and Phishing Calls: An Awareness Programme.

The rapid growth of online transactions has led to a significant increase in online scams and phishing calls. To combat this issue, our organization conducted an awareness program to educate individuals about the risks associated with online transactions and phishing calls. Online transaction scams and phishing calls have become a major concern for individuals and organizations alike. Scammers use various tactics to deceive victims, resulting in financial losses and compromised personal information. Our awareness program aimed to educate participants about the common types of online scams, how to identify phishing calls, and best practices for secure online transactions.

In the village of Take Ghoti near our college, Department of Commerce in association with the National Service Scheme conducted a Survey on the topic of Online Transaction Scams and Phishing Calls: An Awareness Programme on 8th January 2025. This survey was suggested by Internal Quality Assurance Cell of the college. About fifteen students of first year Bachelor of Commerce and three female volunteers from the NSS Special Winter Camp along with four teachers of Commerce Department had joined the task of data collection. The objective of the survey was to spread the awareness among the rural masses about safety precautions to be taken while performing Online financial transactions. The team was divided into four groups of four to five students each and headed by one teacher. The data collection was done with the online questionnaire developed using Google Forms and the information was recorded with the help of mobile phones. Teams visited every house in the village and spread the awareness about safety precautions to be taken while performing online financial transactions and also recorded the responses of every individual who makes payments through electronic payment system. Total 74 responses were recorded and the analysis of the survey is as under.

Report of "Awareness of Solar Energy and Demonstration of Parabolic Solar Cooker"

In the academic year 2024-25 our department of Physics organized the activity "Awareness of Solar Energy and Demonstration of Parabolic Solar Cooker" outside of the college campus. For this activity our respected Principal Dr. Kiran Rakibe Sir guided us to organize this activity on the occasion of NSS camp in Takeghoti. Faculty of Department of Physics and students actively participated in the programme.

Since MVP Samaj's K. P. G. College is situated in the rural area, majority of students have a rural family background. In this area there is problem of electricity i.e. Power cut. Students and villagers are not adequately aware about non-conventional/renewable source of energy and how to save energy. Therefore, department of Physics has conducted 'Awareness of Solar Energy and Demonstration of Parabolic Solar Cooker' Program

Department conducted this activity on Thursday, 09th January 2025 at Takeghoti village. Mr. S. T. Shinde and Mr. G. W. Gangurde gave information on Solar Energy and importance of solar energy to people of Takeghoti.

This activity was conducted in the presence of Mr. G. W. Gangurde (HoD, Physics) and Mr. S. T. Shinde, Mr. S. R. Kute and B.Sc Physics students. Total number of beneficiary to this programme is 40.

Seed Broadcasting Program

INTRODUCTION:-

As per the guidelines and recommendation of Savitribai Phule Pune University and as a responsible citizen, the department of Botany under the guidance of Hon.Principal Dr. Kiran Rakibe Sir, has organized the "Seed Broadcasting Program " to the nearby area of our M.V.P's Karm. Punjababa Govardhane Arts, Commerce & Science College, Igatpuri, Dist-Nashik.

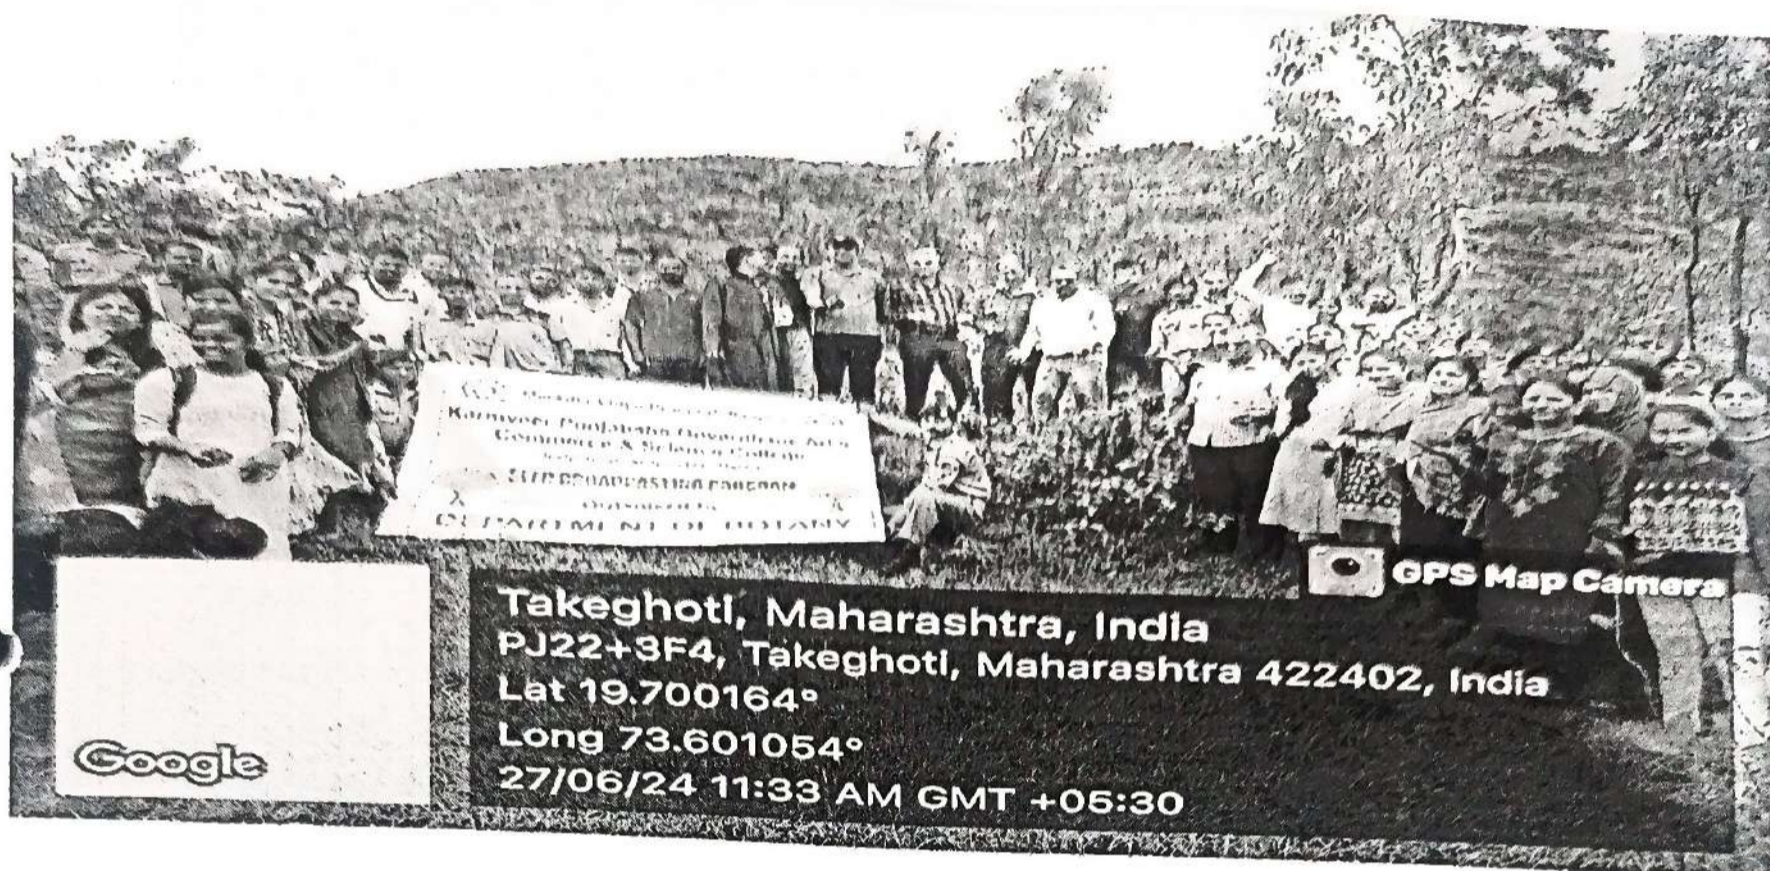

OBJECTIVE:-

Broadcast seeding is of particular use in establishing dense plant spacing, as for the cover of dense plant population. In comparison to traditional drill planting, broadcast seeding will require 10–20% more seed. It is simpler, faster, and easier than traditional row sowing. Broadcast seeding works best for plants that do not require singular spacing or that are more easily thinned later. After broadcasting, seed is often lightly buried with some type of ranking action, often done using vertical tillage tools. Utilizing these tools increases the success rate of germination by increasing seed-to-soil contact.

Seeds sown in this manner are distributed unevenly, which may result in overcrowding. This method may not ensure that all seeds are sown at the correct depth. Incorrect depth, if too deep, would result in germination that would not allow the young plant to break the surface of the soil and prevent sprouting. If they are not sown evenly then there would be a lack of various nutrients from sunlight, oxygen, et cetera, in many crops or plants.

Not all seeds are good candidates for broadcast seeding. Often, only smaller seeds will sprout and continue to grow successfully when planted by way of broadcasting. In general, the larger the seed, the deeper it can be planted.

In the academic year 2024-25 our department of Botany organized the activity "Scientific survey on Crop plant diseases" outside of the college campus. For this activity our respected Principal Dr. Kiran Rakibe Sir guided us to organize this activity on the occasion of NSS camp in Takeghoti. Faculty of Department of Botany and students actively participated in the programme. Since MVP Sarna j's K. P. G. Students and farmer are not adequately aware about organic farming, how to maintaining and improving soil health.

Therefore, department of Botany has conducted "Scientific survey on Crop plant diseases" and 'Awareness of organic farming' Program Department conducted this activity on Thursday, 09th January 2025 at Takeghoti village. Mayur patil (T.Y.BSc Student) and adinath kharate (S.Y.BSc Students) give the demo of preparation of Sanjivani Amrut to the local farmer in takeghoti, Igatpuri. This activity was conducted in the presence of Mr. D.S. Antapurkar (HoD, Botany) and Mr. S. S. Shinde, Ms. S. T. Ghorpade, Ms. R. S. Jadhav and B.Sc botany students. Vermiculture

The term vermiculture mainly refers to the scientific process of cultivating worms or artificial rearing of worms to decompose organic food wastes into a nutrient-rich material. The output of vermiculture is called vermicompost and is formed by the process in which earthworms consume the farmyard manure and roughages in addition to the wastes from farms and thereby producing it. The produced vermicompost is rich in terms of nutrients and other plant growth-promoting substances, which are capable of supplying necessary mineral nutrients to help and sustain plants' growth.

As our college is very far away from the town the town the municipality ghanta gadi do not come to collect the waste so for this problem department of zoology practice a vermiculture on a small scale. we have prepared a single bed of bricks for the vermicomposting. The organic material required is collected from the college campus, specially the fallen leaves and thrashes of trees.

The advantages of the vermicomposting at college level is that we don't have to burn the material and unnecessarily create air pollution. The manure that is produced is used for the plant of the college campus. The project that department has build is also useful for the practical demonstration of the topic related to vermicomposting.

Brief Report

Digital Literacy Programs organized by the department of Economics awareness and study sessions to improve basic economic literacy skills, online safety, and using online resources. Advocate for improved internet infrastructure and affordable internet plans in Take-Take-Ghoti. Establish community centers with access to computers and internet, and trained volunteers to assist residents. Conduct awareness campaigns on online safety, cyber threats, and responsible online behavior. Partner with local schools, NGOs, and government agencies to implement digital literacy programs. Increase the sample size for more statistically significant results. Include qualitative questions to gather more in-depth insights into residents' experiences and challenges. Conduct periodic surveys to track progress and identify emerging digital literacy needs. Use data analysis to inform and target specific interventions to address identified needs. This report provides a starting point for understanding the digital literacy landscape in Take-Ghoti. By implementing the recommended actions, the community can strive to bridge the digital divide and empower residents with the necessary skills to thrive in the digital age.

This report outlines the findings of a digital economic literacy survey conducted in Take Take-Ghoti village, aiming to assess the digital financial inclusion and economic empowerment of its residents. The study reveals a mixed picture, with varying levels of digital literacy and significant potential for leveraging digital technologies to improve economic outcomes. While smart phone penetration is high, internet connectivity remains a challenge, particularly in remote areas. A majority of households have bank accounts, but usage for digital transactions is limited. Awareness of digital payment methods like UPI and mobile wallets is growing, but adoption is still low. Limited awareness and usage of digital financial products like loans, insurance, and investments. Minimum participation in online market places for buying or selling goods and services. Lack of basic digital skills hinders effective utilization of digital tools and services. Concerns about data privacy and security deter adoption of digital financial services. Expand internet connectivity and affordability in the village. Promote Digital Financial Literacy: Conduct awareness campaigns and training programs on digital payments, online banking, and financial products. Empower Women: Focus on empowering women through digital literacy programs and access to digital financial services.

Basic English: Language Learning through Games

Objective:

This one-day activity was designed to improve the English language skills of school students through enjoyable and interactive methods. It also offered university students from the Department of English practical teaching experience.

The main objectives were:

- To build vocabulary, improve grammar, and enhance speaking and listening skills.
- To boost students' confidence in using English in everyday situations.
- To provide English department students with hands-on teaching and mentoring opportunities.

Context:

Many school students face difficulties in learning English due to limited exposure and traditional teaching methods. These approaches often fail to engage them, making the subject seem intimidating. The Department of English identified this gap and designed an innovative program based on games and activities to make English learning fun and stress-free. This initiative also served as a platform for university students to practice and refine their teaching skills in a real-world context.

The Practice:

The program was organized as a one-day event, incorporating a series of interactive activities and games to teach vocabulary, grammar, speaking, and listening.

1. Preparation:

- Training for University Students: Faculty members trained university students on designing age-appropriate games and effectively interacting with school students.
 - Resource Preparation: Flashcards, word puzzles, bingo cards, role-play scripts, and drawing tools were prepared in advance. These materials were designed to support a wide range of activities.

2. Activity Schedule:

A. Welcome and Icebreaker Session (30 minutes):

- The day began with an icebreaker game called "Introduce Yourself with an Adjective" where school students introduced themselves using adjectives like "Brave Brian" or "Kind Kelly."
 - This activity helped students feel comfortable and set a cheerful tone for the day.

B. Vocabulary and Grammar Games (1 hour):

- Word Bingo: Students marked words on their bingo cards as they were called out, improving their vocabulary in a fun and engaging way.
 - Sentence Puzzle: Teams worked together to arrange shuffled word cards into grammatically correct sentences. This improved grammar skills and encouraged collaboration.

C. Speaking and Listening Activities (1 hour):

- Role-Play: School students acted out everyday situations like introducing themselves, asking for directions, or describing an object. University mentors guided them and provided feedback.
 - Storytelling Chain: Each student contributed one sentence to build a group story. This activity improved listening, speaking, and creative thinking.

D. Group Games (1 hour):

- Charades: Students acted out words or phrases while teammates guessed, making vocabulary learning entertaining.
 - Pictionary: Students drew pictures of words or phrases, combining creativity with language learning.

E. Closing and Feedback Session (30 minutes):

- Students shared their favorite activities and reflected on what they learned.
 - Certificates of participation and small prizes were given to encourage students and celebrate their efforts.

Resources Used:

1. Human Resources:

- University students from the Department of English acted as facilitators and mentors.
- Faculty members supervised and guided the preparation and execution of the program.

2. Material Resources:

- Flashcards, bingo cards, word puzzles, and role-play scripts.
 - Stationery items like markers, chart paper, and drawing tools.
 - Digital tools like a projector (if available) for storytelling and visual aids.

Problems Encountered:

1. Diverse Skill Levels:

- The school students came from different learning backgrounds, with varying levels of English proficiency. Some were shy and hesitant to participate.
- Solution: Activities were simplified, and mentors provided individual attention to struggling students.

2. Time Management:

- With limited time for each session, it was challenging to balance activities and ensure every student participated.
- Solution: Sessions were carefully timed, and simpler games were chosen to keep the program on schedule.

3. Resource Constraints:

- Limited availability of materials like printed bingo cards or flashcards for every student.
- Solution: Teams shared materials, and some activities were adapted to require fewer resources.

4. Communication Barriers:

- Some students were hesitant to communicate in English, especially in speaking activities.
 - Solution: Mentors encouraged them by speaking slowly, using gestures, and appreciating their efforts regardless of errors.

Evidence of Success:

1. Improved English Skills: Students demonstrated better vocabulary, sentence formation, and speaking confidence by the end of the program.
2. Confidence Boost: Many students overcame their fear of speaking in English and participated actively.
3. Teaching Experience: University students gained valuable experience in planning and conducting educational activities.
4. Positive Feedback: Teachers praised the initiative, and students expressed their excitement about the interactive format.
5. Lasting Impact: School students showed increased interest in learning English and requested similar activities in the future.

This program successfully demonstrated that learning English can be enjoyable and effective when combined with games and interactive activities. It also provided an excellent platform for university students to apply their academic knowledge in a meaningful way.

REPORT

MARATHI LANGUAGE AND CULTURE CAMPAIGN

Organized By the MARATHI DEPARTMENT

In Collaboration with NATIONAL SERVICE SCHEME (NSS)

The Marathi Department of KPG Arts, Commerce & Science College, in collaboration with the National Service Scheme (NSS), organized a vibrant and enriching Marathi Language and Culture Campaign in TakeGhoti village. The outreach program aimed to promote the Marathi language, literature, and cultural heritage in the rural community, while fostering a deeper connection between the college and the village. The event was designed to engage people of all ages in learning, experiencing, and celebrating the richness of Marathi culture through various interactive programs.

The event was marked by three key activities:

1. Varkari Kirtan Program
2. Book Exhibition in collaboration with the College Library
3. Language Teaching Through Games

The program was a resounding success, with active participation from students, teachers, and the villagers.

1. Varkari Kirtan Program:

The event began with a deeply spiritual and cultural experience in the form of a Varkari Kirtan performance led by HBP Manohar Maharaj Saykhede, a renowned Kirtankar. HBP Manohar Maharaj Saykhede, a second-year student of the Masters in Marathi program at the college, enthralled the audience with his soulful singing and chanting of devotional hymns. The Kirtan, an integral part of Varkari tradition, is a devotional form of music that is deeply rooted in Maharashtrian spirituality and Bhakti movement.

The villagers, young and old, gathered around to listen to the traditional hymns, which spoke of Lord Vithoba, Sant Tukaram, and other saints of Maharashtra. The Kirtan program not only provided a spiritual experience but also served as a reminder of the cultural importance of the Varkari tradition in Maharashtra.

The performance was followed by an interactive session where Manohar Maharaj Saykhede explained the historical and cultural significance of Varkari Kirtan, encouraging the villagers to keep this tradition alive. The program was well-received, and many villagers expressed their eagerness to continue learning about such traditions in the future.

2. Book Exhibition in Collaboration with the College Library:

The next segment of the event was the Book Exhibition, which was organized in collaboration with the college library. This exhibition aimed to promote Marathi literature and expose the villagers to various books and works of Marathi writers. The exhibition featured a wide range of books, including:

- Classical Marathi literature by renowned authors like Vishnu Vaman Shirwadkar (Kusumagraj), P. L. Deshpande, and V. S. Khandekar.
- Contemporary Marathi novels, poetry, and short stories.
- Children's books in Marathi to encourage young readers.
- Books on Marathi history, culture, and language learning.

The exhibition was set up in a community center in the village, and the villagers were invited to explore the collection of books. The students from the Marathi Department took turns as guides, explaining the significance of the books and encouraging people to read and appreciate Marathi literature.

The exhibition was a huge success, with many villagers taking books home, particularly those on Marathi culture and history. The college library also offered book borrowing facilities, ensuring that the villagers could continue to enjoy Marathi literature long after the event.

3. Language Teaching Through Games

One of the key highlights of the event was the Language Teaching through Games session, where students from the Marathi Department played an active role in teaching the Marathi language to the villagers, particularly children and young adults. This interactive session aimed to make learning Marathi fun and engaging, using creative games and activities to teach vocabulary, sentence construction, and grammar.

Activities Included:

- Marathi Word Puzzles: Students introduced word puzzles that encouraged participants to form Marathi words and phrases. This activity helped both children and adults improve their vocabulary and understanding of the language.
- Language Bingo: A unique game of Bingo was designed using Marathi words. Participants had to match words with their meanings or pictures. This helped them associate words with their meanings and improve their language comprehension.
- Role-Playing Games: The students engaged the villagers in role-playing scenarios where they had to use Marathi in daily life situations, such as ordering food, asking for directions, or introducing themselves. This helped them practice speaking Marathi in real-life contexts.
- Marathi Rhymes and Songs: The session also included the singing of popular Marathi rhymes and songs, which were fun for children and helped them remember common words and phrases through music.

The villagers, especially the younger participants, enjoyed the games and showed great enthusiasm in learning Marathi in such an interactive manner. The use of games proved to be an effective way to teach the language in a relaxed and enjoyable environment.

The Marathi Language and Culture Campaign in TakeGhoti village was a resounding success, with an overwhelming response from the villagers. The three key programs — Varkari Kirtan, the Book Exhibition, and Language Teaching through Games — were well-received and provided a unique opportunity for the community to connect with Marathi culture and language in a meaningful way.

The Marathi Department, in collaboration with the National Service Scheme (NSS), succeeded in creating a platform where the villagers could engage with their cultural roots while also learning the importance of preserving and promoting the Marathi language. The students of the Marathi Department played a crucial role in making the event interactive and engaging, and their efforts were highly appreciated by the community.

This outreach program not only strengthened the bond between the college and the local community but also contributed to the promotion of Marathi literature, language, and cultural heritage in rural areas. The success of this event has paved the way for future initiatives aimed at enriching and empowering the community through the Marathi language and culture.

Conclusion

A Global Education Fair offers students a unique opportunity to explore a wide range of educational options and make well-informed decisions about their academic future. By attending such fairs, students gain direct access to representatives from institutions worldwide, enabling them to compare programs, understand admission requirements, and discover scholarship opportunities. The fairs also provide valuable insights into visa regulations, cultural differences, and career paths after graduation.

For students, the key benefit is the personalized guidance they receive, helping them align their academic goals with the right programs and institutions. The ability to interact with admissions officers, current students, and alumni also ensures they get a holistic view of student life, the curriculum, and opportunities post-graduation.

Ultimately, a Global Education Fair empowers students to make confident, well-researched decisions about their education abroad or in a global context, setting them up for success both academically and professionally. It serves as a crucial step in their journey toward higher education and future career advancement.
